Living By The Stream® - EPK

Secular Audiences

Blasting through the boundaries of genre Living By The Stream® creates a new and unique musical style entirely its own by harnessing the tones of violin, guitar, and vocals into a colorful amalgam of sound imbued with joy and wonder.

Having a broad musical background, the duo twists together hints of Celtic, bluegrass, rock, and pop with shades of jazz, folk, and classical. "Quirky," "thoughtful," "fun," "deep," "joyful," "exciting," and "family-friendly" are just a few of the descriptors that stamp the group. Though many have tried to peg the duo's genre and give it a title, in the end everyone comes to the same conclusion – Living By The Stream® is the genre.

ABOUT STEVE

Steve has been a guitarist just short of his entire life. Influenced by many music styles and guitarists during that time, his musical ear remains piqued for sensing and creating special and unique musical expressions he can infuse into the sound art he paints with his guitar. A guitar chord, rhythm or riff can fingerprint a song into indelible memory and this is what's on Steve's mind when he seeks to personally own any song or instrumental he creates or interprets.

Steve's musical prowess was jelled into existence as a result of many experiences. His early years reveal him studying the piano, his first instrument, and studying the coronet soon after that. Percussive tones created by piano keys and brass melodies created with his own self-generated wind gave him a basic understanding and perspective of music and musical instruments.
